C. Forfeiture

The Indictment contains a Notice of Forfeiture pursuant to Title 18, United States Code, Section 853 giving the defendant notice of the Government's intent to seek forfeiture of various properties used or intended to be used to commit, to facilitate, or to promote the commission of such offense; and constituting, derived from, or traceable to the gross proceeds obtained directly or indirectly as a result of the offense. Entry of an order of forfeiture in a criminal case is considered part of sentencing. Libretti v. United States, 516 U.S. 29, 39 (1995). Nevertheless, the factual determination as to whether any property was involved or derived from an offense is a matter submitted to the jury. United States v. Pelullo, 14 F.3d 881, 904 (3rd Cir. 1994). <sup>1</sup>

The only issue for the jury is whether the Government "has established the requisite nexus between the property and the offense." Fed. R. Crim. P. 32.2(b)(4). The jury itself does not order forfeiture; nor does it consider third-party claims. Fed. R. Crim. P. 32.2(b), (c). In this regard, the Government will submit proposed jury instructions and a special verdict form. The jury's special verdict will serve as the basis for this Court to enter a preliminary order of forfeiture. Fed. R. Crim. P. 32.2(b)(2), (3). The final order of forfeiture will follow notice and advertisement of the preliminary order and will address any third-party claims. Fed. R. Crim. P. 32.2(b)(2), (c).

The jury does not consider whether the Defendant has an interest in the property to be forfeited; nor does the jury determine the extent of the Defendant's interest in any property

<sup>1</sup> Fed. R. Crim. P. 32.2(b), which became effective December, 2000, provides that this factual determination shall be made by the court unless a party requests that the jury determine whether the government has established the requisite nexus between the property and the offense. In an abundance of caution, in light of the Supreme Court's decision in Apprendi v. New Jersey, 120 S. Ct. 2348 (2000), the government requests that the Court submit the forfeiture issue to the jury unless the defendant waives any right that he might have to a jury trial on forfeiture. The government does not concede that Apprendi should be read to require a jury determination on criminal forfeiture and, indeed, would argue that Libretti has held to the contrary. The government nevertheless suggests that, absent defendant agreement, forfeiture be submitted to the jury until this issue is resolved in this Circuit.

1 to be forfeited. These matters are considered by the Court in ancillary proceedings, following 2 the jury's special verdict and entry of the preliminary order of forfeiture. Fed. R. Crim. P.
3 32.2(b), (c); Advisory Committee Note to Subsection (b). As a sentencing issue, the burden of 4 proof is by a preponderance of the evidence. See United States v. Dare, 425 F.3d 634, 642 (9th 5 Cir.2005) ("[T]he preponderance of the evidence standard is the appropriate standard for factual 6 findings used for sentencing."); United States v. Myers, 21 F.3d 826 (8th Cir. 1994) 7 (preponderance standard applies because forfeiture is part of sentence in money laundering 8 cases); United States v. Voigt, 89 F.3d 1050 (3rd Cir. 1996) (following Myers); United States v.
9 Smith, 966 F.2d 1045, 1050-53 (6th Cir.1992)(same for drug cases). Accordingly, the 10 Government requests that the Court instruct the jury on preponderance of the evidence standard 11 if and when the issue of forfeiture is submitted to them for decision. The Government will 12 submit pertinent instructions on this issue prior to the forfeiture stage of this proceeding.

13 VI. Anticipated Evidence

6 PI Whitsitt will also testify that another package addressed to Shane Salas, 118 Ababang 7 Loop, Yigo, Guam arrived on or about August 26, 2020. PI Whitsitt obtained a search warrant 8 (MJ 20-00090) to search the package. The package contained a box wrapped in "Happy 9 Birthday" wrapping paper. In the package was a white bucket which contained two vacuum 10 sealed bags containing a crystalline substance wrapped in carbon paper. The vacuum sealed 11 bags contained a crystal-like substance suspected to be methamphetamine which weighed 2.328 12 kilograms gross or 2,257 net grams.

13 B. Jonathan Calvo

14 Jonathan Calvo is a Task Force Officer (TFO) with the USPIS. TFO Calvo will testify 15 that he applied clue spray on the contents of the Salas package. TFO Calvo will testify that he 16 placed the Salas package in a cluster box located across the street from 118 Abanbang Loop, 17 Yigo, Guam. On August 26, 2020, TFO Calvo approached Defendant and initiated a black light 18 test. TFO Calvo will testify to the location of the black light test, the negative result, and his 19 observations of the Defendant.

20 C. Henry James

21 Henry James is a Task Force Officer (TFO) with the Drug Enforcement Administration
22 (DEA). TFO James observed the Defendant drive a Toyota Tacoma pickup to the cluster box, 23 and enter his truck while holding the Salas package.
24

1           D. Jason Correa

2           Jason Correa is a Special Agent (SA) with DEA. SA Correa discovered that the 3 breacher device in the Salas package was activated and signaled for entry into the Defendant's 4 residence. SA Correa interviewed the Defendant and will provide testimony regarding that 5 interview.

6           E. Shawn Ayuyu

7           Shawn Ayuyu is a Task Force Officer ("TFO") with the Drug Enforcement
8 Administration. TFO Ayuyu will testify to the items found in Defendant's residence. TFO 9 Ayuyu will further provide testimony regarding the contents of Defendant's cellular phones.
10 (MJ 20-00095 White Apple iPhone 11 Cellular Telephone; MJ 20-00096 Black Samsung 11 Cellular Telephone; MJ 20-0097 Nokia Cellular Telephone). TFO Ayuyu will lay the foundation 12 for admission of photographs taken in Defendant's residence and the items seized from his 13 residence.

14           F. Ashley Bennett

15           Ashley Bennett is a Forensic Chemist with the Drug Enforcement Administration 16 Southwest Laboratory. Chemist Bennett will testify regarding the identification of the 17 methamphetamine hydrochloride and the purity levels of the drugs.

18       VII. Evidentiary and Other Trial Issues

19           A. Statements

20           The Government will offer Defendant's statements into evidence at trial. Fed.R.Evid.
21 801(d)(2)(A). The Government may move to admit excerpts of the Defendant's text messages in 22 evidence pursuant to Fed.R.Evid. § 801(d)(2)(A), as an Opposing Party's Statement. Pursuant to 23 Rule 801(d)(2)(A) of the Federal Rules of Evidence, a defendant's out-of-court statement is not 24

1 hearsay when offered by the Government. Fed. R. Evid. 801(d)(2)(A). “A statement is not 2 hearsay if ... [it] is offered against a party and is the party's own statement.” United States v.
3 Marin, 669 F.2d 73, 84 (2nd Cir. 1982). A defendant, however does not have a parallel ability to 4 offer his/her own statements into evidence. “When the defendant seeks to introduce his own 5 prior statement for the truth of the matter asserted, it is hearsay, and it is not admissible.” Id.

6 B. Photographs

7 The Government intends to offer photographs into evidence. Under Rule 901 of the 8 Federal Rules of Evidence, a witness familiar with a scene or object may provide a sufficient 9 foundation for admission of a photograph by testifying that it fairly and accurately depicts the 10 scene or the object at the relevant time. See United States v. Brannon, 616 F.2d 413, 416 (9th 11 Cir. 1980); cert. denied sub nom. Cox v. United States, 447 U.S. 908 (1980). See also People of 12 the Territory of Guam v. Ojeda, 758 F.2d 403 (9th Cir. 1985). 0020“The evidence that the 13 photographs accurately depicted events in the bank during the robbery was undisputed. This 14 evidence provided a sufficient foundation to admit the photographs.” United States v. Brannon, 15 616 F.2d 413, 416-17 (9th Cir. 1980).

16 C. Duplicates

17 A duplicate is admissible to the same extent as an original unless (1) a genuine question 18 is raised as to the authenticity of the original, or (2) the circumstances make it unfair to admit the 19 duplicate instead of the original. See Fed. R. Evid. 1003. The party opposing admission on Rule 20 1003 grounds has the burden of producing evidence to trigger one of these exceptions. See, e.g., 21 United States v. Stewart, 420 F.3d 1007, 1021 n.13 (9th Cir. 2005); see also United States v.
22 Chang An-Lo, 851 F.2d 547, 557 (2d Cir. 1988) (burden of challenging admissibility of duplicate 23 rests with the party against whom it is offered); United States v. Garmany, 762 F.2d 929, 938 24

1 (11th Cir. 1985) (same); United States v. Georgalis, 631 F.2d 1199, 1205 (5th Cir. 1980).

2 D. Chain of Custody

3 The Government’s position is that the chain of custody in this case is sufficient to 4 introduce the seized items into evidence. The Ninth Circuit has held that the prosecution may 5 establish chain of custody to lay a proper foundation for admission of physical evidence if it is 6 able to prove that a reasonable juror could find that the evidence is in substantially the same 7 condition as when seized and if there is a reasonable probability the evidence has not been 8 changed in important aspects. Merely raising the possibility of tampering is not enough to render 9 evidence inadmissible. Finally, a defect in the chain of custody goes to the weight not 10 admissibility. United States v. Solorio, 669 F.3d 943 (9th Cir. 2012); United States v.
11 Harrington, 923 F.2d 1371 (9th Cir. 1991); See generally Fed. R. Evid. 901(a).

12 Before evidence is admitted, “the prosecution must introduce sufficient proof so that a 13 reasonable juror could find that the items [that the prosecution seeks to admit into evidence] are 14 in ‘substantially the same condition’ as when they were seized.” United States v. Solorio, 669 15 F.3d 943 (9th Cir. 2012) quoting United States v. Harrington, 923 F.2d 1371, 1374 (9th Cir.
16 1991). The district court may admit the evidence if there is a ‘reasonable probability the article 17 has not been changed in important respects.’” Id. (quoting Gallego v. United States, 276 F.2d 18 914, 917 (9th Cir. 1960). “Before a physical object connected with the connection of a crime 19 may properly be admitted in evidence there must be a showing that such object is in substantially 20 the same condition as when the crime was committed. This determination is to be made by the 21 trial judge. Factors to be considered in making this determination include the nature of the 22 article, the circumstances surrounding the preservation and custody of it, and the likelihood of 23 intermeddlers tampering with it. If upon the consideration of such factors the trial judge is 24

1 satisfied that in reasonable probability the article has not been changed in important respects, he 2 may permit its introduction in evidence.” Gallego v. United States, 276 F.2d 914 (9th Cir. 1960).

3 A defect in the chain of custody goes to the weight, not admissibility, of the evidence 4 introduced. United States v. Matta-Ballesteros, 71 F.3d 754 (9th Cir. 1995). “The possibility of 5 a break in the chain of custody goes only to the weight of the evidence.” Id. (quoting United 6 States v. Harrington, 923 F.2d 1374 (9th Cir. 1991).

7 “There is no rule requiring the prosecution to produce as witnesses all persons who were 8 in a position to come into contact with the article sought to be introduced in evidence. Gallego, 9 276 F.2d 914.

10 E. Prima Facie Threshold for Authentication

11 When proffered evidence is challenged on grounds of authenticity or identity, the 12 evidence should be admitted once the government makes a prima facie showing of authenticity.
13 See United States v. Black, 767 F.2d 1334, 1342 (9th Cir. 1985) (“[Rule 901] requires only that 14 the court admit evidence if sufficient proof has been introduced so that a reasonable juror could 15 find in favor of authenticity or identification. The credibility or probative force of the evidence 16 offered is, ultimately, an issue for the jury.”) (quotation marks and citation omitted).

17 In order to prove authenticity, there must be some evidence sufficient to support a finding 18 that the evidence is what the proponent claims it to be. Fed.R.Evid. § 901.
19 Federal Rules of Evidence § 902 states as follows:

20 Rule 902. Evidence That Is Self-Authenticating

21 The following items of evidence are self-authenticating; they require no extrinsic 22 evidence of authenticity in order to be admitted:

23 (14) Certified Data Copied from an Electronic Device, Storage Medium, or File.

24 Data copied from an electronic device, storage medium, or file, if authenticated by a process of digital identification, as shown by a certification of a qualified person that complies with the certification requirements of Rule 902(11) or (12). The proponent also 1 must meet the notice requirements of Rule 902(11).

2 The reference to the “certification requirements of Rule 902(11) or (12)” is a process by 3 which a proponent seeking to introduce electronic data into evidence must present a certification 4 in the form of a written affidavit that would be sufficient to establish authenticity were that 5 information provided by a witness at trial. This affidavit, provided by a “qualified person,” is 6 U.S. Coast Guard Special Agent and Computer Forensics Agent Nicholas P. Wellein, who 7 collected the evidence and can attest to the requisite process of digital identification utilized.

8 In applying Fed. R. Evid. § 902(14), the accompanying Judicial Conference Advisory 9 Committee notes provide guidance and insight concerning the intent of the law and how it should 10 be applied. The second paragraph of committee note to Fed.R.Evid. § 902(14) states, in its 11 entirety, as follows:

12 Today, data copied from electronic devices, storage media, and electronic files are 13 ordinarily authenticated by “hash value.” A hash value is a number that is often 14 represented as a sequence of characters and is produced by an algorithm based upon the 15 digital contents of a drive, medium, or file. If the hash values for the original and copy 16 are different, then the copy is not identical to the original. If the hash values for the 17 original and copy are the same, it is highly improbable that the original and copy are not 18 identical. Thus, identical hash values for the original and copy reliably attest to the fact 19 that they are exact duplicates. This amendment allows self-authentication by a 20 certification of a qualified person that she checked the hash value of the proffered item 21 and that it was identical to the original. The rule is flexible enough to allow certifications 22 through processes other than comparison of hash value, including by other reliable means 23 of identification provided by future technology.

18 The Advisory Committee notes further state that Rule § 902(14) is designed to streamline 19 the admission of electronic evidence where its foundation is not at issue, while providing a notice 20 procedure where “the parties can determine in advance of trial whether a real challenge to 21 authenticity will be made, and can then plan accordingly.” This rule provides that properly 22 certified electronic data is now afforded a strong presumption of authenticity, an opponent may 23 still lodge an objection, but the opponent now has the burden to overcome that presumption.
24

1           F. Foundation for Still Photographs/Video Recordings

2           Videotaped evidence is categorized as photographic evidence under Federal Rule of 3 Evidence § 1001(c). “So long as the scenes or events depicted accurately represent what they are 4 alleged to portray, there is no requirement that the individual who actually took the pictures 5 testify at trial to lay a proper foundation. Rogers v. Ingersoll-Rand Co., 971 F.Supp. 4 (D.D.C.
6 1997) citing Simms v. Dixon, 291 A.2d 184, 186 (D.C. App. 1972). “The same principles that 7 govern the foundation for still photographs apply to the admission of motion pictures or 8 videotapes. State v. Powers, 148 S.W. 3d 830, 832 (Mo.App.E.D. 1995). The party offering a 9 videotape in evidence must show that it is an accurate and faithful representation of what it 10 purports to show. Phiropoulous v. State, 908 S.W. 3d 712, 714 (Mo.App.E.D. 1995). The 11 foundation may be established by any witness who is familiar with the subject matter of the tape 12 and is competent to testify from personal observation. Id.” Suttherland v. Koster, 2011 WL 13 2784108 (E.D.Mo., 2011).

14           “Under federal law, a foundational objection to the admission of a videotape is without 15 merit where testimony indicates that the tapes are ‘fair and accurate.’ United States v. Roach, 28 16 F.3d 729, 733 (8th Cir. 1994). Strict compliance with guidelines for admission of videotapes is 17 not required where a videotape’s ‘substance and circumstances under which it was obtained were 18 sufficient proof of its reliability.’ Id. at 733 n. 4 (citing United States v. Clark, 986 F.2d 65, 68 19 (4th Cir. 1993)). ... Additionally, videotapes are admissible to show how a crime was 20 committed and to link a defendant to a crime. See e.g., United States v. Standish, 3 F.3d 1207, 21 1210 (8th Cir. 1993).” Suttherland v. Koster, 2011 WL 2784108 (E.D.Mo., 2011).

22           G. Opinion Evidence, Expert Witness

23           The United States proposes the following jury instruction be provided to the petite jury: 24

1 You have heard testimony from a witness who testified to opinions and the reasons 2 for her opinions. This opinion testimony is allowed because of the education or 3 experience of this witness. Such opinion testimony should be judged like any other 4 testimony. You may accept it or reject it, and give it as much weight as you think it 5 deserves, considering the witness's education and experience, the reasons given for 6 the opinion, and all the other evidence in the case.

7 Ninth Circuit Model Criminal Jury Instructions, Instruction 4.14 (updated 9/2020).

8 Federal Rules of Evidence § 702 states:

9 A witness who is qualified as an expert by knowledge, skill, experience, training, or 10 education may testify in the form of an opinion or otherwise if:

- 11 (a) the expert's scientific, technical, or other specialized knowledge will help the trier 12 of fact to understand the evidence or to determine a fact in issue;
- 13 (b) the testimony is based on sufficient facts or data;
- 14 (c) the testimony is the product of reliable principles and methods; and
- 15 (d) the expert has reliably applied the principles and methods to the facts of the case.<sup>2</sup>

16 In United States v. Hankey, 203 F.3d 1160 (9th Cir. 2000), the Court noted that:

17 The Daubert factors were not intended to be exhaustive nor to apply in every case.
18 Kumho Tire, 119 S.Ct. at 1178. However, a trial court may consider the specific 19 factors identified in Daubert where they are reasonable measures of the reliability of 20 proffered expert testimony. Skidmore v. Precision Printing and Packaging, Inc., 188 21 F.3d 606, 618 (5th Cir.1999) ("Whether Daubert's suggested indicia of reliability 22 apply to any given testimony depends on the nature of the issue at hand, the witness's 23 particular expertise, and the subject of the testimony. It is a fact-specific inquiry." 24 (internal citations omitted)).

Likewise, in considering the admissibility of testimony based on some "other <sup>2</sup> Under Federal Rule of Evidence 703, in the case of scientific evidence, an expert can base his/her opinion on facts or data "perceived by or made known to the expert at or before the hearing." Fed.R.Evid. 703. "The trial judge must determine at the outset, pursuant to Rule 104(a), whether the expert is proposing to testify to (1) scientific knowledge that (2) will assist the trier of fact to understand or determine a fact in issue. This entails a preliminary assessment of whether the reasoning or methodology underlying the testimony is scientifically valid and of whether that reasoning or methodology properly can be applied to the facts in issue. Daubert, 509 U.S. at 592-93. This gatekeeping role extends to all cases where the "testimony reflects scientific, technical, or other specialized knowledge." Kumho Tire Co., Ltd. v. Carmichael, 526 U.S. at 141. Under Daubert, the Court must make a two-step inquiry for scientific evidence: "First of all, the proffered 'expert' must be qualified to express an expert opinion... Secondly, the proffered expert opinion must be reliable." In re TMI Litig., 193 F.3d 613, 664 (3rd Cir. 1999). In determining the reliability of the expert testimony, the Supreme Court has provided a number of factors to offer guidance to the court's inquiry. These factors include: (1) whether a method consists of a testable hypothesis; (2) whether the method has been subjected to peer review; (3) the known or potential rate of error; (4) the existence and maintenance of standards controlling the technique's operation; (5) whether the method is generally accepted; (6) the relationship of the technique to methods which have been established to be reliable; (7) the qualifications of the expert witness testifying based on the methodology; and (8) the non-judicial uses to which the method has been put. In re Paoli Railroad Yard PCB Litigation, 35 F.3d 717, 742 n.8 (3rd Cir. 1994).

specialized knowledge,” Rule 702 generally is construed liberally. See, e.g., United States v. Ramsey, 165 F.3d 980, 984 (D.C. Cir.1999) (admission of opinion testimony, given by agent of Drug Enforcement Administration regarding drug trade was not plainly erroneous; while agent was not formally qualified as expert, agent described his qualifications, including his specialized knowledge, education, skill and experience, before giving testimony). Thus, admissibility of expert opinion testimony generally turns on the following preliminary question of law determinations by the trial judge under FRE 104(a).

Whether the opinion is based on scientific, technical, or other specialized knowledge; Whether the expert's opinion would assist the trier of fact in understanding the evidence or determining a fact in issue;

Whether the expert has appropriate qualifications -i.e., some special knowledge, skill, experience, training or education on that subject matter. FRE 702; Jones v. Lincoln Elec. Co., 188 F.3d 709 (7th Cir.1999); See Wilson v. Woods, 163 F.3d 935 (5th Cir.1999) (expert in fire reconstruction unqualified as expert in auto accident reconstruction).

Whether the testimony is relevant and reliable. In re Unisys Sav. Plan Litig., 173 F.3d 145, 155 (3rd Cir.1999); Kumho Tire, 119 S.Ct. at 1174–75.

Whether the methodology or technique the expert uses “fits” the conclusions (the expert's credibility is for the jury). See General Electric v. Joiner, 118 S.Ct. 512, 522.

Whether its probative value is substantially outweighed by the risk of unfair prejudice, confusion of issues, or undue consumption of time. FRE 403; United States v. Chischilly, 30 F.3d 1144, 1156 (9th Cir.1994).

At trial, the United States will meet this burden by eliciting testimony from the proffered expert revealing the expert’s level of education, experience, and on-the-job training, specialized knowledge, skill, experience, and training on the subject matter.

H. Statements of Non-Testifying Agents

During trial, Agents and Task Force Officers may testify about other Agents’ and Task Force Officer’s surveillance. Such testimony is admissible under the present-sense-impression exception of Rule 803(1) of the Federal Rules of Evidence. See, e.g., United States v. Gil, 58 F.3d 1414, 1422 (9th Cir. 1995) (testimony of agents who overheard observations of surveillance officers “easily satisfy the requirements” of Rule 803(1), as “[t]he surveillance officers were

1 providing a description of the events at the same time they were witnessing them, so the 2 testimony was admissible under the present sense impression exception[.]”). This case-law 3 survives Crawford v. Washington, 541 U.S. 36 (2004). See United States v. Solorio, 669 F.3d 4 943, 952-54 (9th Cir. 2012).

5 I. Witness Impeachment by Prior Bad Acts

6 Rule 608 of the Federal Rules of Evidence governs the impeachment of witnesses based 7 on specific instances of their conduct. It permits inquiry into specific instances of a witness’s 8 conduct for the purpose of attacking the witness’s credibility only on cross examination of the 9 witness or of another witness who has testified as to the principal witness’s character for 10 truthfulness, and only if the prior instance of conduct is “probative of truthfulness or 11 untruthfulness.” Fed. R. Evid. § 608(b).

12 Rule 608 also prohibits proof of specific instances of a witness’s conduct by extrinsic 13 evidence. Fed. R. Evid. § 608(b). Thus, even when Rule § 608(b) allows inquiry into a specific 14 instance of conduct probative of truthfulness, such as making false statements, it does not permit 15 inquiry into the consequences of that act, such as an arrest or other disciplinary action for 16 conduct. See id., advisory committee note (“[T]he extrinsic evidence prohibition of Rule 608(b) 17 bars any reference to the consequences that a witness might have suffered as a result of an 18 alleged bad act,” listing suspension or other disciplinary action as an example); see also United 19 States v. Davis, 183 F.3d 321, 357 n.12 (3d Cir. 1999) (stating that Rule 608 prohibits inquiry 20 into a witness’s suspension from work based on a prior bad act).

21 Finally, inquiry into specific acts of a witness’s conduct is subject to the Court’s 22 discretion, and the court may prohibit such inquiry under Rule 403. See, e.g., United States v.
23 Geston, 299 F.3d 1130, 1137 (9th Cir. 2002).

1           J. Unrelated Instances of Non-Criminal Conduct

2           Evidence that defendant obeys laws or otherwise comported himself or herself well on 3 other occasions is inadmissible because it is not probative of whether he committed the crimes 4 charged in this case. See, e.g., United States v. Qaoud, 777 F.2d 1105, 1111 (6th Cir. 1985) 5 (affirming exclusion of evidence that defendants did not take bribes on certain occasions was 6 inadmissible as irrelevant to whether they did take bribes on others); United States v. Russell, 7 703 F.2d 1243, 1249 (11th Cir. 1983) (affirming exclusion of evidence of specific, unrelated 8 “good acts” as irrelevant to guilt); United States v. Grimm, 568 F.2d 1136, 1138 (5th Cir. 1978) 9 (“Evidence of noncriminal conduct to negate the inference of criminal conduct is generally 10 irrelevant.”). Evidence of a “lack of prior bad acts” amounts to inadmissible character evidence 11 under Rule 405(a), which prohibits evidence of specific instances of conduct to prove character.
12 See United States v. Barry, 814 F.2d 1400, 1403 (9th Cir. 1987); see also United States v.
13 Hedgcorth, 873 F.2d 1307, 1313 (9th Cir. 1989) (same).

14           K. Explanation of Investigation

15           An out-of-court statement is not hearsay when offered not for the truth but to explain how 16 an investigation unfolded. See United States v. Tenerelli, 614 F.3d 764, 772 (8th Cir. 2010); 17 United States v. Cromer, 389 F.3d 662, 676 (6th Cir. 2004); United States v. Barela, 973 F.2d 18 852, 855 (10th Cir. 1992); United States v. Martin, 897 F.2d 1368, 1371-72 (6th Cir. 1990); 19 United States v. Lowe, 767 F.2d 1052, 1063-64 (4th Cir. 1985).

20           L. Inextricably Intertwined Evidence

21           “Inextricably intertwined” evidence is admissible under a well-settled exception to Rule 22 404(b)’s general ban on uncharged misconduct evidence. See, e.g., United States v. Beckman, 23 298 F.3d 788, 793-94 (9th Cir. 2002) (“Evidence of ‘other acts’ is not subject to Rule 404(b) analysis if it is ‘inextricably intertwined’ with the charged offense. This exception applies when (1) particular acts of the defendant are part of a single criminal transaction, or when (2) ‘other act’ evidence is necessary to admit in order to permit the prosecutor to offer a coherent and comprehensible story regarding the commission of the crime.”) (citation omitted); United States v. Collins, 90 F.3d 1420, 1428 (9th Cir. 1996) (“In general, evidence of other crimes committed by the defendant [] is inadmissible. However, an exception to this general rule is that evidence of other criminal activity may be used for the purpose of providing the context in which the charged crime occurred.”) (citation omitted).

M. Stipulations

Where appropriate, the government may enter into stipulations regarding the facts. “When parties have entered into stipulations as to material facts, those facts will be deemed to have been conclusively established.” United States v. Houston, 547 F.2d 104, 107 (9th Cir. 1976).

N. Arguing Penalties

Absent extraordinary statutes requiring the jury to participate in sentencing determinations, the sole function of the jury is to determine guilt or innocence. Punishment is within the exclusive province of the Court. United States v. Del Toro, 426 F.2d 181, 184 (5th Cir. 1970); Chapman v. United States, 443 F.2d 917, 920 (10th Cir. 1971).

As such, it is improper for a party to elicit evidence that would allow the jury to speculate as to the punishment a defendant faces if convicted. United States v. Feuer, 403 F. App’x 538, 540 (2d Cir. 2010)(summary order)(absent exceptional circumstances,<sup>3</sup> “a defendant has no legal <sup>3</sup> The Court of Appeals in Feuer cites to Shannon v. United States, 512 U.S. 573, 579 (1994), for an explanation of what “exceptional circumstances” would be. Shannon’s holding was that there is no requirement to give a jury instruction about the consequences of a not guilty by reason of insanity verdict. In so holding, however, the Supreme Court recognized that “an instruction of some form may be necessary under certain limited circumstances. If, for

2 Cook, 776 F. Supp. 755, 756-57 (S.D.N.Y. 1991) (“The function of the jury in a criminal trial is 3 to determine guilt or innocence based upon an impartial consideration of the evidence, unswayed
4 by emotion, fear or prejudice. Where the jury is permitted to speculate concerning a defendant’s 5 possible punishment, a jury cannot properly perform that function.”)(citations omitted). See also 6 United States v. Pabon-Cruz, 391 F.3d 86 (2d Cir. 2004).

7       It is proper for the court to interrupt any arguments relating to punishment or appeals for 8 mercy, see United States v. Wilson, 439 F.2d 1081, 1082 (5th Cir.1971), Gretter v. United States, 9 422 F.2d 315, 319 (10th Cir. 1970), and some cases have held that the Court is required to do so.
10 See United States v. Ramantanin, 452 F.2d 670, 672 (4th Cir. 1971); May v. United States, 175 11 F.2d 994, 1010 (D.C. Cir. 1949); see also United States v. Young, 470 U.S. 1, 13 (1985)(stating 12 that the “better course” would have been for the trial judge to interrupt defense counsel’s improper 13 argument rather than leaving it for the prosecutor to address on rebuttal).

14       To allow the jury to be swayed by arguments regarding possible punishment would be to 15 permit them to violate their oath not to allow their verdict to be affected by sympathy. See Del 16 Toro, 426 F.2d at 184 (““To inform the jury (concerning) matters relating to disposition of the 17 defendant, tend to draw the attention of the jury away from their chief function as sole judges of 18 the facts, open the door to compromise verdicts and to confuse the issue or issues to be decided.””) 19 (quoting Pope v. United States, 298 F.2d 507 (5th Cir. 1962)).

20       In short, counsel may not seek to inflame the prejudices of the jury or conjure up sympathy 21 for the defendant by referring to the potential sentences and collateral consequences the defendant example, a witness or prosecutor states in the presence of the jury that a particular defendant would ‘go free’ if found 24 [not guilty by reason of insanity], it may be necessary for the district court to intervene with an instruction to counter such a misstatement.” 512 U.S. at 579.
